

#Me Too, Anch'io

Daniela Gioseffi

Poets Wear Prada, Jun 15, 2020 112 pages

Twenty-three Italian American women writers respond to #MeToo, sharing their thoughts and experiences through poetry and personal essays. Edited with a foreword by American Book Award-winning writer and activist Daniela Gioseffi.

Contributors include B. Amore, Amy Barone, Grace Cavalieri, Olivia Kate Cerrone, Paola Corso, Donna DiCello, Jessica Femiani, Marisa Frasca, Maria Mazziotti Gillan, Daniela Gioseffi, Maria Giura, Roxanne Hoffman, Maria Lisella, Lorraine Mangione, Joanne Monte, Kathryn Nocerino, Angelina Oberdan, Lisa Marie Paolucci, Michelle Reale, Nina Carey Tassi, Maria Terrone, Tina Tocco, and Camilla Trinchieri.

"Here you'll find antidotes to apathy and calls for the compassion that just might help us rid humanity of the evils of accepting gender injustice." - FRED L GARDAPHÉ

"In telling their stories, this anthology affords these Italian women the ability to free themselves from the agony of a story untold!" - ANTHONY JULIAN TAMBURRI

https://books.google.com/books/about/Me\_Too\_Anch\_io.html?id=BlgRxQEACAAJ